

Volunteer Opportunities

Domestic Violence Program Support

Asian Women's Home, the domestic violence program of Asian Americans for Community Involvement (AACI), is seeking program support from community members. Volunteers are not only an integral part of our program, but an integral part of the anti-violence movement. Apply your personal and professional skills to help end domestic violence in the following areas:

Direct Client Services (requires 40-hour Domestic Violence Advocacy Training) **

- Hotline Counselor* (Asian-language and fluency is preferred)
- Children Activities Coordinator*
- Translator & Interpreter*
- Shelter Administrative Support
- Helping clients with basic computer skills, job seeking, and English assistance
- Arts and crafts, mind and body exercises

Program Support

- Pro Bono Legal Services*
- Main Office Administrative Assistant
- Community Outreach & Education
- Grants and Fundraising
- Updating resources and seeking new outreach opportunities
- Special Projects and Events

* Due to the nature of our program and the population we work with, volunteer applicants who are interested in working directly with shelter residents must meet the following requirements:

- Completion of the California State-mandated 40-hour Domestic Violence Advocacy Training
- Pass the Live Scan Fingerprinting background Check
- Submit a TB test result

 Most needed positions.

Qualifications

- Interest in the anti-violence and empowering victims of domestic violence
- Willingness to work in an environment where there are stressful crisis situations
- Ability to work both independently and as part of the team
- Flexibility and willingness to work on a variety of tasks
- Strong interpersonal skills necessary to communicate with staff and clients

A strong and vibrant organization consists of community members with unique attributes from various ethnicities, races, gender identities, sexual orientations, socioeconomic backgrounds, immigration statuses, and abilities. AACI Asian Women's Home encourages you, as an integral part of our community to contribute your individual experience. We will work together to support survivors of domestic violence and to end abuse. We accept applications on an on-going basis.
